Lifetime Structural Warranty

IMPORTANT: The floorboards must be inspected by the installer prior to use and any planks deemed not fit for service, should not be installed and will not be covered by warranty provisions.

The manufacturer warrants its products in the original manufactured condition to be free from manufacturing defects including delamination (separation between plies), milling, and other manufacturing aspects that would result in inadequate floor performance, and not caused inadequate installation or inappropriate environmental conditions.

Engineered timber flooring is a natural product that may expand and contract during seasonal, temperature, and humidity changes. When properly installed, the product may experience slight separation or gaps between boards. If minor separation or minor seasonal cracks occur, they are not covered by this warranty or considered a defect as they are normal to engineered timber floors.

Any product thought to be defective by the accredited installation contractor should be returned to Artimber for inspection PRIOR TO INSTALLATION. Installation implies acceptance of the product.

No warranty will be offered for visual imperfections or appearance-related claims such as grade features or colour once the products are installed.

The product manufacturer warranties do not cover installation and site suitability. Once installed the product is deemed to be suitable for use and plank defects that should have been removed or assessed prior to installation will not be covered by warranty provisions. This will be a matter between client and contractor. We would recommend that you always ask for installation or contractor warranties to cover workmanship as these are not covered by manufacturing warranties

These warranties, which begin from the date of purchase, apply only to products used in indoor, dry residential applications, for flooring installed below grade, on grade, or above grade and are valid only in Australia. These warranties apply only to the original purchaser and the original residential location where the product is installed and are not transferable.
